Couple Takes Marriage Vows In Baltimore

Kathryne C. Levis Weds Richard McCormick In Church

NEWARK, Del., Aug. 27-(Special) .- The marriage of Miss Kathryne Crook Levis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Levis of Roland Park, Baltimore, and Mr. Richard McCormick, son of Mrs. Patrick McCormick of Tenafly, N. J., an in-structor of history at the University of Delaware, took place Saturday afternoon in Grace Methodist Church, Baltimore. Matron of honor was the bride's twin sister, Mrs. John Munroe, June bride, whose husband is also history instructor at the university. The young women through school and college chose the same courses and activities cul-minating in chemical research work on fellowship awards at the University of Delaware in quest for mas-ters' degrees.

Marriage will divide the interests of the two, however, since Mr. Mc-Cormick and his bride, following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, will join the faculty at Rutgers University. The Munroes will remain in Newark to continue their present work.

Both fomances originated at Delaware where the sisters, who grad-uated first and second in their class of June '44 from the Woman's Col-lege, University of North Carolina, have been working on research in plastics in the chemital engineering
